

I'm in a constant pain.
My caesarean section was done by an incompetent doctor.
But I didn't report it to the police because I felt they won't do anything about it.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system.
Read full story of Jacob's daughter in our report Justice Needs and Satisfaction in Uganda.
Available online at www.hiil.org

The factory chemical fumes where I used to work were incredibly dangerous. I had to undergo surgery on my lungs because of them. My employer did not pay my social security and fired me.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system.
Read full story of Mohamed in our report Justice Needs and Satisfaction in Tunisia.
Available online at www.hiil.org

My daughter was forced out of her home when she was 9 months pregnant with her second child. Since then, her partner didn't want to pay alimony and refused to return her and the children's possessions. He also changed the locks of the house, even though they both owned the house, so that she could not return to her own home.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system.

Read more family justice stories in our report The Justice of Separation Procedures.

Available online at www.hiil.org

I'm a Syrian refugee living in Jordan. I'm eligible for a work permit because I've worked for two years under sponsorship. Recently I got a better job offer somewhere else. Under Jordanian law, to change my job, first I need to get a permission from my current employer. But he not only refused to accept my resignation but was also unwilling to match the salary of the other offer.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system.

Read full story of Ahmad in our report Justice Needs of Syrian refugees.

Available online at www.hiil.org

I'm a 29-years-old mother of two. An accident left me physically disabled. My husband used this as a primary motive when filing for divorce. Me and my children have lost everything because of this divorce.

I felt humiliated and frustrated, so I decided to take legal action and go to court. These difficult, lengthy legal proceedings left me physically exhausted.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system.
Read full story of Luma in our report Justice Needs and Satisfaction in Jordan.
Available online at www.hiil.org

For three decades, my family have been in an inheritance dispute. Legal routes have not worked - the dispute has now become violent. It has driven my once tight-knit family apart.

We listened to thousands of people's stories about their experiences with the justice system. Read full story of Omar in our report Justice Needs of Yemenis. Available online at www.hiil.org